Twitch Chat OAuth Password Generator

As of Sept. 17, 2013, Twitch now requires that you log into IRC using an OAuth token instead of your plaintext password or hash for additional security.

Use this tool to generate an OAuth token to authenticate with Twitch IRC. The entire presented token (including "oauth:") can be substituted for your old password in your IRC client.

Note: Each time you use this tool it will invalidate any previous tokens. It is recommended that you save it for reference if you are using multiple clients.

(Technical: This application uses the implicit grant flow for the Twitch API to retrieve your token. This means that your token is only ever visible to your browser and not our server.)

Twitch Chat OAuth Password Generator

Use the following password to login to chat:

oauth:b9ougrxvag14s44qisszjz90lyspswo

Example:

/nick yourtwitchusername
/server irc.twitch.tv 6667 oauth:b9ougrxvag14s44qisszjz90lyspswo
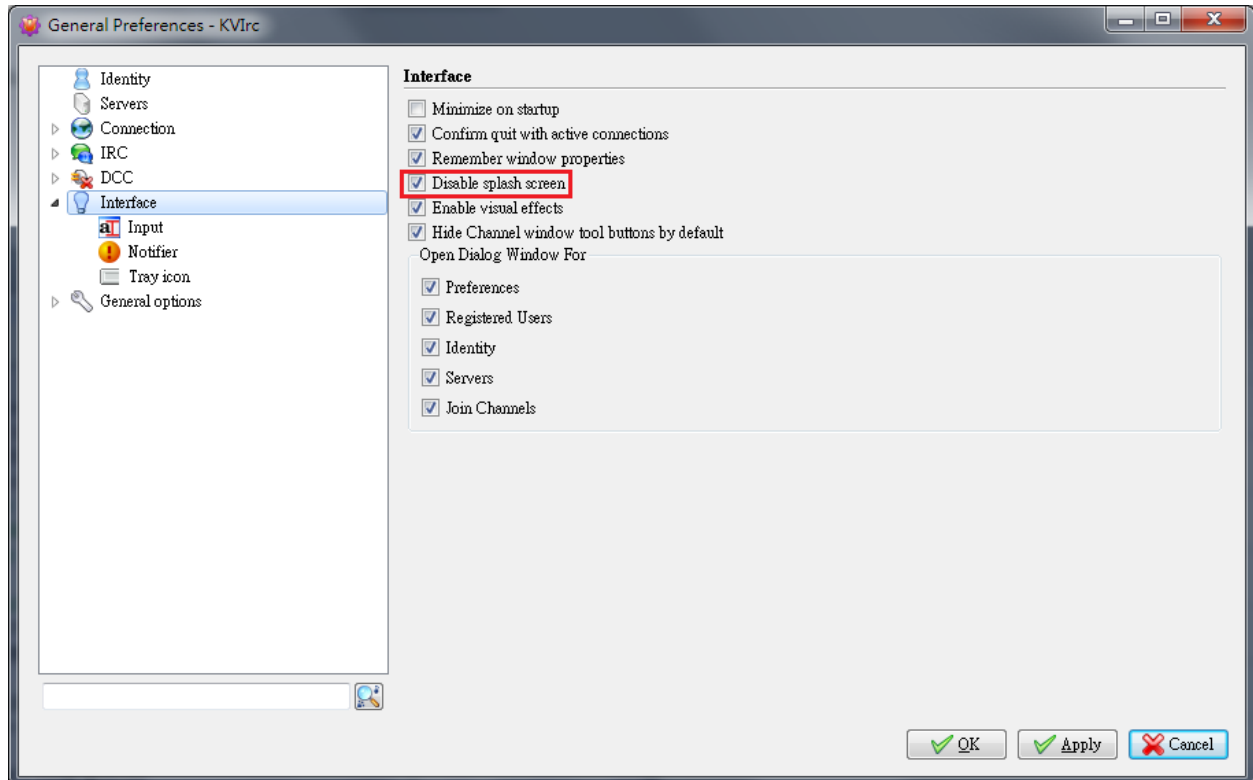

http://twitchapps.com/tmi/ (obtains your OAuth token from here, put it in your password)
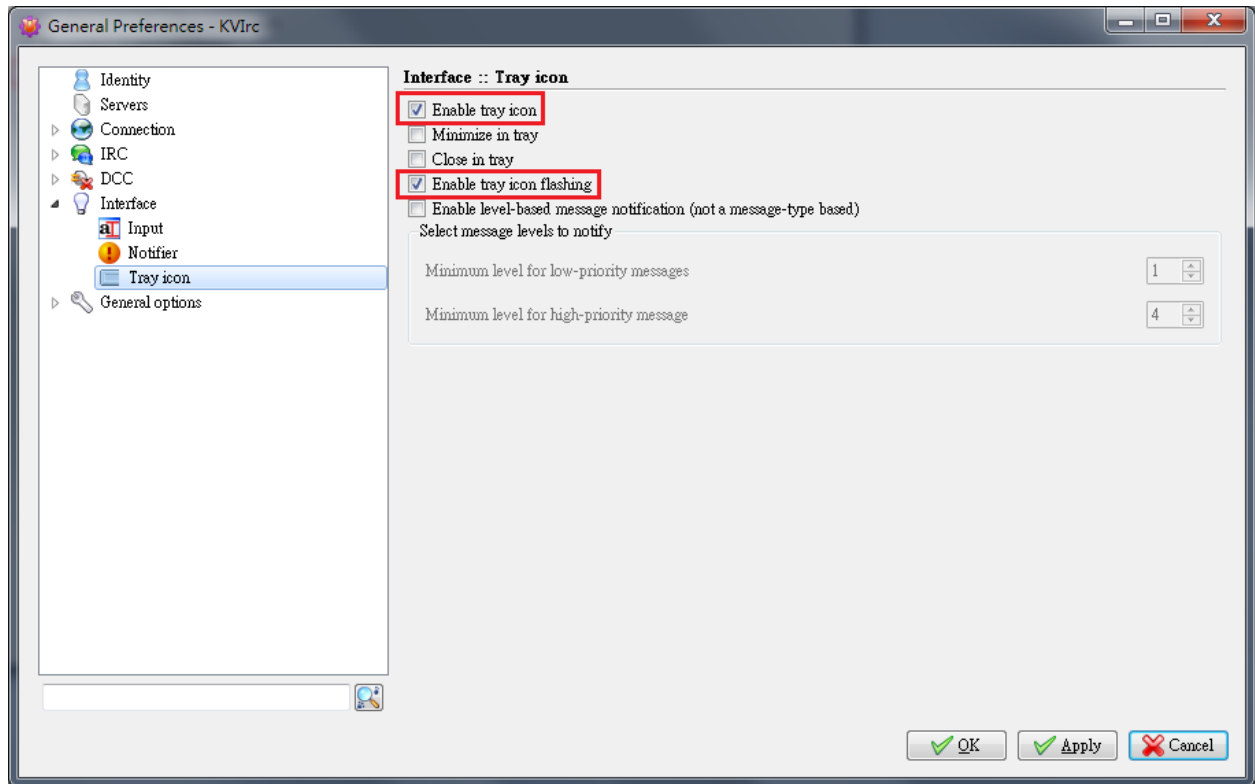

An example "password" would be "oauth:asdasd234asd234ad234asds23" without quotes.

When you have done all settings, press "Connect Now" button.

Type /j #ChannelName to join channel. You can also add it in "Join Channels" tab to join channels automatically. (ChannelName is twitch account if use on twitch chat room)

extra setting/tweak

Do as above picture and change KVirc icon to "Show icon and notification" in windows.
When someone chats in channel, you can see KVirc icon changing.
